

CONSTRUCTION

In construction law, negotiations, disputes, and claims can arise from the designing and construction process of any project, simple or complex. Because the process is so complicated and there is often a high risk on construction sites, it can be a complicated area in which to contend.

If you are experiencing difficulties regarding any of these areas, our Texas construction law attorneys can assist you. At Naman, Howell, Smith and Lee, PLLC, we have been serving clients' construction law needs for over 100 years.

Types of Construction Law

A variety of professionals require the help of experienced construction law attorneys, including:

- Designers
- General contractors
- And subcontractors

These skilled construction professionals may require assistance at any time during the process, from project negotiation to post-construction. Our lawyers can even offer mediation for construction law disputes if this best suits your needs.

Several of our construction attorneys have devoted their careers to educating, representing, and advising the design and construction industries.

Cases We Represent

Our lawyers represent clients such as:

- Private owners
- Public entities and individuals working on projects at all levels
- Developers
- Universities
- Cities
- General contractors
- Architects and engineers
- Subcontractors

RELATED CAPABILITIES

Alternative Dispute Resolution
& Mediation

Civil Rights Defense

Corporate

Environmental & Natural Resources

Insurance

Labor, Employment & Benefits

Litigation

Personal Injury & Wrongful
Death

Products Liability

Real Estate & Public Finance

PROFESSIONALS

Mark Altman

Cash Barker

Clifton Bowling

Mark A. Cooper

J. Mark Craun

Keith E. Gamel

Kerry L. Haliburton

Claire Harbert

James T. Howard

Kaitlin H. Kerr

Jay Lea

David L. LeBas

Construction

- Manufacturers
- Rental and material suppliers
- Insurance carriers

Relationships between professionals are often built on a foundation of mutual understanding and history of good work, but sometimes when complications arise it is important to have an attorney on your side to provide you with the skilled guidance you need.

Naman, Howell, Smith and Lee, PLLC works in the areas of transactions, from the most basic AIA contract to the largest EPC:

- Litigation
- Arbitration
- Lobbying and legislation
- And general business counseling

Examples of Legal Issues

Some of the most common matters our firm manages are:

- Contract disputes
- Defects in design or construction
- Personal injury
- Property damage
- Warranty claims
- Business delays and interruptions
- Product failures
- Insurance coverage claims
- Surety bonds

Because of our years of experience successfully representing clients in construction law cases, the Texas construction law attorneys at our firm stand ready to help you and your business with a wide variety of cases.

Jordan A. Mayfield
Kristen A. Mynar
Shane O'Dell
James M. Parker Jr.
Neal E. Pirkle
Jason C. Sheffield
Andrew Stamper
Larry D. Warren